

Azure-devops account creation

Prerequisites:

1. Microsoft account
2. Github account

Search for the azure devops in the browser

Google search results for "azure devops". The search bar shows "azure devops" with a close button. Below the search bar are tabs for All, Videos, Images, News, Shopping, Web, Books, and More. The first result is from Microsoft, titled "Azure DevOps Services", with a URL "https://azure.microsoft.com › en-us › products › devops". The description says: "Build, test, and deploy in any language—to any cloud or on-premises—and run in parallel on Linux, macOS and Window." Below the result is a "People also ask" section with three questions: "What is Azure DevOps used for?", "Is Azure DevOps like Jira?", and "What are the 5 components of Azure DevOps?". The answer to the third question is: "A: Microsoft Azure DevOps consists of five main components: Azure Boards for work tracking, Azure Repos for version control, Azure Pipelines for continuous integration and continuous delivery (CI/CD), Azure Test Plans for testing, and Azure Artifacts for package management."

Now you are done with the organization where you can create your own project, click on create project to create a project

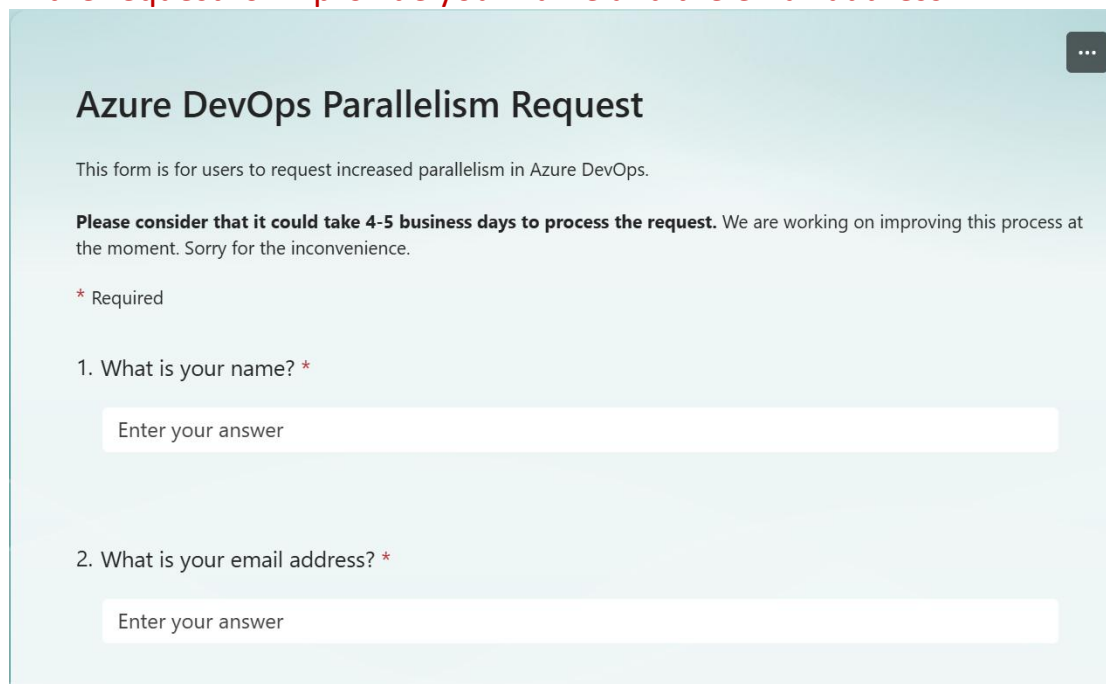

The screenshot shows the Azure DevOps interface. On the left, there's a sidebar with 'vtricks-sample' and a 'New organization' link. The main area is titled 'Create a project to get started'. It has a 'Project name' field with 'Sample_Project' entered. Below that, there's a 'Visibility' section with two options: 'Public' (disabled) and 'Private' (selected). A note states: 'Public projects are disabled for your organization. You can turn on public visibility with organization policies.' At the bottom, there's a blue button labeled '+ Create project'.

After creating the your Azure DevOps organization must have access to Microsoft-hosted parallel jobs. You can either purchase a parallel job or you can request a free grant.

For that click on <https://aka.ms/azpipelines-parallelism-request>

In the request form provide your name and the email address

The screenshot shows a form titled 'Azure DevOps Parallelism Request'. It includes a header with a menu icon. The text says: 'This form is for users to request increased parallelism in Azure DevOps.' Below that, a note states: 'Please consider that it could take 4-5 business days to process the request. We are working on improving this process at the moment. Sorry for the inconvenience.' There's a legend: '* Required'. The form has two questions: '1. What is your name? *' and '2. What is your email address? *'. Each question has a text input field with the placeholder 'Enter your answer'.

Enter your azure devops organization name then choose the request for private project and click submit

3. What is the name of your Azure DevOps Organization? *

(E.g. for <https://myorganization.visualstudio.com> or <https://dev.azure.com/myorganization> link formats - organization name would be 'myorganization')

4. Are you requesting a parallelism increase for Public or Private projects? *
